

It is that time of year again! Soon your children will be spending their days out by the pool, lazing around with friends, and maybe even surfing...the Internet that is. Find out how you can help your kids surf safely this summer by visiting <http://www.netismartz.org/Parents>. You can learn more about blogging, cell phones, cyber bullying, gaming, predators, social networking, and how to keep your kids from revealing too much online.

Scroll down a little on the page to find these links:

