Bio & Education

Teaching criminal justice is my passion, however I have worked in the insurance industry for many years prior to teaching. I have a masters of science degree in criminal justice from the University of North Texas, Denton, Texas in addition to 36 hours of graduate hours in special education. I obtained my bachelors of science from Texas A&M University-Texarkana while being employed as a police officer for the Pittsburg police department located in Pittsburg, Texas. I attended the police academy at Northeast Texas Community College in Mt. Pleasant, Texas and graduated valedictorian of my class. Currently I am attending Texas A&M University-Commerce working on my doctoral studies in higher education. Previous to teaching in Frisco ISD, I served as the department chair for special education services for six years for Dallas ISD. Also, I am currently teaching criminal justice evening classes serving as an Associate Faculty Professor for Collin County Community College. I am so excited about teaching our students at our new Career and Technical Education Center in Frisco! I look forward to the opportunities our new facility provides me in being able to teach our students the American criminal justice system and practices for many years to come.

Course Taught

I currently teach Emergency Communications, Fundamentals of Criminal Law, Crime in America and Crime Scene Investigation. Each subject encompasses many aspects of telecommunications, our court system, criminology, and police investigations. These advance courses inform our students of the many career opportunities that are available in our criminal justice system.
